The Henna Bedouin

Traditional Mehndi body art for you and your friends!

Private Appointments, Parties, Special Occasions, Corporate Functions and Events!

Join in on the mystery, glamour and charm surrounding this ancient form of body art!

Henna or Mehndi is a traditional form of body art which has been used to adorn young women's bodies as part of both social, religious and holiday celebrations for thousands of years. It uses a natural dye made from leaves of the Henna plant and other natural ingredients to create individual markings and patterns on the skin.

Besides being an integral part of wedding ceremonies across the Middle Eastern region, henna was also used to celebrate births, blessings and battle victories! It is also considered to have therapeutic and cooling effects on the skin!

Today henna body art is one of the hottest trends around with contemporary, traditional or just plain fanciful designs lasting from 1 week up to 2 weeks depending on the quality of the paste, individual skin type, and how long the paste is allowed to stay on the skin.

Using henna you can make a tattoo that is safe, temporary, pain-free and lots of fun! It has become a versatile form of personal statement that can be used by men, women and children alike!

WARNING: The dangers of "BLACK HENNA!"

Henna is NOT black. However, there are several things marketed as "Black Henna", and some things believed to be "Black Henna". Some are very DANGEROUS. It can cause blistering, open sores, scarring and life-long health problems! Traditional henna colours range from orange to a dark reddish-brown and is 100% natural and SAFE!
